In areas where it is widespread, it has altered the local fire regimen so much that native plants cannot survive the frequent fires, allowing B. Paired together, they form the maxim. Doing more with less is, of course, something that is not particular to chemistry, and perhaps the approach we now need to take is to look at the service a molecule provides rather than whether we need a specific molecule, and, from that, we may be able to find that a different molecule can provide the very same service, despite the fact that it is almost philosophically interesting for a chemist to say maybe what we need is actually less chemistry or, in fact, smarter chemistry.
